REPORT

OF THE

Comptroller of the Treasury

OF THE

STATE OF MARYLAND

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND, DECEMBER 15, 1913.

To the Honorable,
The General Assembly of Maryland:

Section 9 of Article 19 of the Code of Public General Laws requires that a statement of the financial affairs of the State shall be made annually, and in obedience thereto, I have the pleasure of submitting herewith my report for the fiscal year ended September 30th, 1913.

RECEIPTS.

The total gross receipts of the Treasury proper, as given in Statement "A," are shown to be $10,720,082.91, to which must be added the balance on hand September 30th, 1912, of $1,826,-229.95, aggregating $12,546,312.86, the largest amount ever received into the Treasury, being an increase of nearly 100 per cent. within the past five years.

This increase is only apparent, however, and not real by reason of large bond sales during the year, and the increased tax rate from 23¼ cents in 1912 to 31 cents in 1913 on each $100. The revenues accruing from these sources are dedicated funds and applicable only for the purposes for which issued and levied and therefore cannot be used in the payment of the running expenses of the State government. Let us examine, therefore, more carefully this statement in order to ascertain accurately if the State's revenues are increasing against which the governmental expenses are properly chargeable, viz, appropriations, salaries, etc., and in doing so I wish to submit the following statement, which will make the matter so plain that the figures will speak for themselves:

Total receipts for the year, exclusive of balance		$10,720,082 91

Total for 1911		2,648,203 21
Decrease in two years		$11,095 86

Hence it is clearly demonstrated that while our ordinary revenues have increased in some particulars and decreased in others, they are practically the same as two years ago. How, therefore, can the State provide for the increased appropriations already made and the demands now being so seriously advocated? A few years ago the Treasury was able not only to meet all its obligations in the running expenses thereof, but at the close of the fiscal year over and above its expenses to care for its loans, thereby relieving the taxpayer of this burden; hence the low tax rate for 1907 and 1908, but that time has passed and we are confronted with the very serious condition of our revenues not being sufficient for our necessities. Had it not been for the very free use of the Executive veto by the present Governor and his immediate predecessor, our financial condition today would be far from comfortable. Of course this in no manner affects our bonded obligations or the revenues to the public schools, since they are cared for by direct taxation, but it has a very serious bearing upon the appropriations that shall come before your honorable bodies. In the natural growth of affairs the State has been compelled to meet those necessities and we are recognizing more and more the duty the State owes to its dependent insane, feeble-minded, the poor and unfortunate in our hospitals and asylums, as well as the education of our boys and girls. We are erecting fine buildings for their care, but that is done from money arising from bond issues, while the maintenance of those institutions, necessarily much more expensive as their usefulness and capacity expands, must be borne from the general Treasury. Consider the increased appropriations to the State Board of Health with those of a few years ago, the Public Service Commission, the appropriation of $300,000 per annum to State-aided roads, and the many other appropriations. I am not uttering one word of negation thereto, for I fully recognize the importance of them all, but how will the State maintain the pace it is going upon the present revenues? It cannot be done.

The question naturally arises as to the proper solution of the problem. If our revenues increased in the ratio of our expenditures, of course the question would be easily answered, or if our appropriations could be diminished or maintained at the present level without impairment to the best interest of the State, the problem would likewise be readily solved. To levy a tax for maintenance, other than road maintenance, I conceive, will never be seriously considered. That class of property upon which such a tax would fall is now already overburdened. Hence, the State must look for increased revenue from some indirect source, or sources, which is now escaping its fair and just proportion. It will be my pleasure to submit later on in these remarks some measures from which, in my judgment, additional revenues could be obtained that would more equitably distribute the burden of taxation.

DISBURSEMENTS.

Your attention is invited to Statement "B," exhibiting in detail the expenses of the State government, in which will be found the character of disbursements, the Acts of Assembly authorizing the same, together with amounts so paid, aggregating $11,070,356.08, leaving a balance in the Treasury September 30th, 1913, of $1,475,956.78. A comparison of these expenditures with those of former years will show a very large increase, not only on account of larger appropriations, but principally by reason of bond issues, the moneys arising therefrom being paid as therein directed.

This balance of $1,475,956.78 carried over into the next fiscal year, viz, October 1st, appears large, but it is well to bear in mind the proper charges against this amount, and I desire to submit herewith another statement showing clearly the demands thereupon.

SINKING FUNDS.

The operation of the funds accounts is shown in detail in Statement "E," to which your attention is respectfully invited. In this statement will be found the following new accounts: Maryland State Normal School Loan, Technical School Loan of 1912, Second Insane Hospital Loan, Consolidated Loan of 1913, and the State Loan of 1912, necessarily opened to meet the issue of these loans. During the year there was purchased, as therein shown, $78,000 of the Consolidated Loan of 1899 and $400,000 of the State Loan of 1912, Series "F," while the large cash balance of $678,023.85 was carried down into the next fiscal year, viz, October 1st. On October 2nd, 1913, the State offered for sale $1,174,000 of its own bonds. Therefore the Treasury officials deemed it wise to bring this balance down, not only in order to protect the sale of its bonds to this extent, which had been selling at a low price owing to the condition of the money market, but, if possible, invest therein.

It is gratifying to state that the wisdom of this course was fully justified, the State being enabled to purchase $600,000 of said bonds, $274,000 of the State Loan of 1912, and $326,000 of the Second Insane Hospital Loan, all of which are now in the State's deposit boxes.

In Statement "F" will be shown the character and amount of the investments held by the State in its several sinking funds, amounting to $6,794,152.67, including the cash balances above referred to, securities of the very highest grade, State's own bonds, save and except $333,000, $140,000 of which latter amount is in Baltimore City stock, while the remainder is in county and municipal bonds of this State.

STATE DEBT.

The funded debt of the State is shown in Statement "J," the gross amounting to $16,685,095.63, while the net debt, after deducting the sinking fund investments and the mortgage of the Northern Central Railway Company of $1,500,000, is shown to be $8,390,942.96. Since the close of the fiscal year, however, the debt has been increased by the sale of bonds, duly authorized, and for your information I would submit the following statement:

October 1st, Gross Debt		$16,685,095 63
State Loan of 1912, 4%—
Series "E"	$4,000 00
Series "F"	100,000 00
Series "G"	170,000 00
		274,000 00
Consolidated Loan of 1913, 4%, Series "B"		200,000 00
Second Insane Hospital Loan, 4%, Series "B"		400,000 00
Maryland State Normal School Loan, 4%, Series "B"		300,000 00
Total December 15th, 1913		$17,859,095 63

In addition to the above, the last Series "D," of the Public Highways Loan of 1910, amounting to $250,000, will be sold on January 6th, 1914, and this will conclude all the loans as now authorized, save and except the "State Loan of 1914," amounting to $817,880.55. This loan is to refund the Consolidated Loan of 1899 of $3,191,095.63, due January 1st, 1914, the sinking fund of which holds securities and cash aggregating $3,209,230.01, or more than sufficient to retire the same. Rather than sell the securities therein mentioned at a loss, owing to the great depreciation of values, the Treasury officials decided to hold said securities and refund for the amount less the holdings of its own stocks. The securities in the sinking fund of the new loan will be sufficient to carry the same without the levying of any tax therefor.

ASSESSABLE BASIS FOR STATE LEVY.

In Statement "K" will be found the assessed value of property for the State levy in 1913, amounting to $1,007,881,475, together with the amount of such levy at 31 cents on each $100, aggregating $3,124,432.57. By a comparison of these figures with those of former years it will be seen that the basis shows a gradual and in some instances a very large increase. A comparison of any two years, however, in my judgment, would not be a safe basis upon which to form an intelligent opinion as to the equity and uniformity of such assessments, and I therefore submit the following table, covering the years 1877, 1897 and 1911 with those of 1913, the first three years being those immediately following new assessments:

From a perusal of said statement, it would appear that the increase in some counties is entirely out of proportion to that of others. Allowing a reasonable difference for the fact that property values have increased more rapidly in some sections of the State than in others, nevertheless the lack of such increase where the same might reasonably be expected is remarkable. It is manifest that a State basis to be founded in equity should of all things be uniform. It matters little to the property holder if his assessment is 100 per cent. of its true value, provided, however, all other property is assessed in the same ratio. But if his assessment is very much higher than those of others, he not only has to pay more than he should, but also has to make good the under-assessment of those more favored. To a certain extent inequalities in assessments will occur as long as human agencies are invoked in levying taxes, but it should be the care of those in authority to see that some system be inaugurated whereby those inequalities are reduced to a minimum.

Under our present system, making a State basis by local authorities without any State supervision is an anomaly. I think it a fair inference that by such system you will have just as many different units of value as there are taxing authorities in the State. In my judgment, this condition should no longer exist, and I would respectfully recommend the creation of a State Board with sufficient powers to correct, as far as possible, these inequalities, as well as others under our present system.

The State tax, in my opinion, should be levied and collected uniformly. Under our present laws the city of Baltimore levies the local and State taxes in December, beginning the collection thereunder in January following for that calendar year—one county will levy in April or prior thereto, beginning the collection thereof in May, and so on, nearly every county in the State having a different date for its levy and collection. How difficult, therefore, it becomes to estimate with any degree of accuracy the revenue of the State from direct taxes!

TAX ON FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

Under the present law foreign corporations, except certain companies therein exempted, "shall at the time of filing its annual certificate, to wit, before the first day of April in every year, pay to the State Treasurer for the use of the State a franchise tax for such year at the following rate—that is to say, the sum of twenty-five dollars for every full fifty thousand dollars of capital employed by it in this State up to five hundred thousand dollars, but in no case less than twenty-five dollars; if the amount of such capital is more than five hundred thousand dollars, and not more than five million dollars, then an additional amount equal to one-fortieth of one per cent. on the excess; and if more than five million dollars, then an additional amount at the rate of thirty dollars for every million dollars of such last named excess."

There is no provision, however, in said statute requiring such corporations to file with the taxing authorities of the State, other than the Secretary of State, the amount of capital employed in the State, nor is that officer clothed with any powers to inquire into and demand the correctness of such report. That the laxity of the law in this particular permits abuses whereby the State loses its just revenue is very manifest. One of the largest department stores in Baltimore City, operating under a foreign charter, makes a return of only $5,000 as the amount of capital employed within this State. No business or corporation, foreign or domestic, should ever be assessed beyond a fair valuation, but such gross inequalities as above mentioned should not be permitted. The law should be amended, in my judgment, requiring all foreign corporations to report to the Secretary of State, as now enacted, but giving that official sufficient authority to demand and receive a correct return, who in turn should certify the same to the Comptroller.

This tax, as now enacted, is levied upon "every full fifty thousand dollars of capital employed by it in this State." Under an opinion given this Department by Attorney-General Isaac Lobe Straus, it was held that the above were words of limitation. Hence a company having $99,999 of capital employed in the State would be required to pay only $25, or no more than if $1,000 of capital were employed. Surely it would appear that the tax should be levied upon a more equitable basis as to true values, having due regard to a reasonable minimum amount.

LICENSES.

The Legislature of 1858, by Chapter 414, fixed the schedule of traders' licenses as follows:

Licenses.	Capital.	License Fee, 12 Months.
Traders', Female	$500.00	$6.00
Traders'	1,000.00	12.00
"	1,500.00	15.00
"	2,500.00	18.00
"	4,000.00	22.00
"	6,000.00	30.00
"	8,000.00	40.00
"	10,000.00	50.00
"	15,000.00	65.00
"	20,000.00	80.00
"	30,000.00	100.00
"	40,000.00	125.00
" Exceeding	40,000.00	150.00

How unjust and unfair would any assessment be, if it remained unchanged for 55 years! And yet that is just what this State has done with reference to the above schedule. During that time several general assessments of real and personal property have been made to the end that our assessable basis has quadrupled. The above schedule represented, I am sure, at the time of its adoption an equitable ratio of values, but those values have very materially changed. Department stores and large combinations of capital in trading were then unknown, but who will say that today $40,000 represents the fair basis upon which many traders should pay when their capital runs into the millions! This matter was brought to the attention of the Legislature of 1910, but opposition was strong enough to defeat the bill in the Senate after having been passed by the House. There was urged against it the "driving of capital out of the State," "the counties milking the city," etc., losing sight of the fact that the capital in this business, as in every other, should contribute its fair share towards the burdens of the State and not discriminate against their brother merchants of smaller capital. Upon what basis of equity can you reconcile the rate of $125 per annum for one merchant with a capital of $40,000 while adjoining him his rival with $1,000,000 invested pays only $25 more per annum?

It is a franchise tax, it is true, one for the privilege of doing business in the State, and as such the merchant is liable for the additional tax upon his stock of goods. Some companies, electric light, trust, etc., pay in addition to their other taxes a franchise tax as well. Take for instance a dredger owning his boat of 50 tons with an invested capital, say, of $3,500. He pays, if living in a city, in addition to the State, city and county tax upon his invested capital of only $3,500 for the privilege of catching oysters less than six months in the year, within $7.50 as much as the merchant for twelve months with a capital of $500,000 or more.

There is only one question involved in the above measure: Does the above schedule make everyone operating thereunder bear his fair share of governmental expenses?

STATE TAX ON BALTIMORE CITY STOCK.

The State tax on these securities yielded a revenue during the fiscal year of $96,733.45, applicable to the public schools, sinking funds and road maintenance. An estimate has been submitted whereby Baltimore City will have to pay into the State Treasury during the next fiscal year the sum of $110,683.45 from the same source. It therefore follows that as the debt of the city increases so will this tax, since the city itself is compelled to pay this tax, deducting the same, of course, from the holders of said stock. This provision is applicable to no other city or county in the State and it does occur to me that common justice requires that all should be placed upon the same basis—tax all or exempt all.

CONCLUSION.

Let me urge upon you the strictest economy. The condition of the Treasury, as it has been my endeavor to show, will not stand any further strain, and I view with alarm the demands that are now being agitated for increased appropriations and bond issues. We are going through a period of contraction and not expansion. Our tax rate is now so high as to be burdensome, and any additional increase should be most seriously considered, if considered at all.

I cannot close this report without again calling attention to the fact that unless additional revenues are derived from some other sources than are now in view, the ordinary receipts of the State will not stand even the additional demands that now seem unavoidable in order to carry to successful completion the work already under way or the obligations already assumed by the State, and even these obligations cannot be met or maintained except by the exercise of the greatest economy and care of those entrusted with the expenditure of the State's money. An increase in the present State tax rate, which has been so rapidly advanced from 16 cents to 31 cents on each $100 ought to be avoided, if it be possible to do so.

I beg to acknowledge my indebtedness to the Governor of the State, to the State Treasurer, and to the Attorney-General for their uniform courtesy and assistance in all matters of this department, with which they have been connected or consulted, and to add my appreciation of the zeal and fidelity of my official force, and to commend the services of Harry J. Hopkins, my chief clerk, which I have found most valuable to myself, to the department and to the State.

Respectfully submitted,

EMERSON C. HARRINGTON,
Comptroller of the Treasury.
